Early Dealings Border on a State of Demoralization.

course aside from those matters which words, throughout the forenoon session the liquidation of exhausted speculative accounts proceeded apace and it was attended by further aggressive if somewhat belated selling for the short account.

On the buying side of the market there could be noted also some covering of short contracts, together with a moderate but middle of the day that this buying became sues the early losses were well in excess of 1 per cent, and much more severe losses were scored in the more fancy uniformity of movement.

While the conditions in China were commonly recognized as being exceedingly grave, they were scarcely more alarming than they were at the close of the week. The despatches from the apring wheat sections were nothing more than confirma-tory of those aiready at hand. The wheat market, indeed, of itself was decidedly reactionary and it was upon the decline in that staple that the stock market showed its first tendency toward recovery.

The general London market, as well as the Continental markets, were reported the Continental markets, were reported unsettled, chiefly on account of the uneasiness entertained in regard to the upshot of the Chinese situation. Still the changes noted in American stocks were slight and irregular, and foreign houses had very few orders in this market. Notwithetanding a slightly hardening tendency in the London money market, sterling exchange was weaker here, and the local money market itself was not perceptibly changed in any of its quar-ters. Few important statements of railway traffic were submitted with the course

f the day.

As noted, the transactions in today's market were very well diversified and all quarters of the market were actively dealt in, with the bulk of interest chiefly in the raffway list. The most pronounced de-clines in that quarter upon the opening were in the granger stocks. New York Central, Missouri Pacific, and notably Balthmore and Ohio common. Subsequent recoveries in these stocks obliterated the greater part of the earlier losses except in the instance of Baltimore and Ohio. ooklyn Rapid Transit continued the centre of interest of the local traction group, and the stock broke very severely in the forenoon, but it likewise enjoyed a subsequent sharp recovery. There was again an absence of anything definite to account for the violent movements in the violent movements in the industrial quar-ter, although the dealings there, apart from Sugar Refining and the Tobacco stocks, were not particularly active. Among the specialties, there was a par-icularly sharp decline in Consolidated as, based on the announcement of the roposed issue of new stock in connection with recent acquisition of competing con-cerns. For the most part the occurrences in the day's market resulted wholly from simple technical trading conditions, and hence were not susceptible of extended liquidation the loan market for stocks disclosed the existence of an unusually extended short account.

Yesterday's stock market saw the w.al opening and then the good rally that many had expected for the beginning of the week Monday is frequently a most important day in the stock market the day of culmina-tions and the beginnings of new move-ments. For this reason, when a decline or an advance has continued for several weeks and the opening on a Monday morning is in the same direction the professionals have a way of looking for a change. They help the change along by evening up their contracts. It is impossible to predict wha the outcome of yesterday's rally will be but it is quite possible that it may continue this week and develop into at up and movement of some importance. The more careful of the bears in the market are ba-ginning to cover their short sail s. The "long-waisted" people that come in at the end of every slump to secure bargains are now buying stocks in considerable volume. They recognize that present prices do not represent the intrinsic value of recuriti a A continuance of the rally for another day and for a point or two more would kill the lately arrived little bears that come into the market always when it is too late. It would cause a bear panic. The close yes-most securities.

The news yesterday was not striking in any way, and cannot be said to have had

It is in such stocks as the high-priced engaged attention last week. In other grangers (high-priced in name though not words, throughout the forenoon session in fact) that the reinvestment of the July interest and dividend disbursements may be expected. These disbursements out the session, showing at times advances will be very large. Many new stocks have been relatively firm throughout the session, showing at times advances even when corn and wheat were declining, been added to the dividend list since the last July dividend payments. It is not impossible that they will have an import-ant effect on the immediate future of the grangers. St. Paul bought at 1081-2 contracts, together with a moderate but yields more than 41-2 per cent on the confident absorption of stocks upon the declines. It was not, however, until the one's mind that the present rate of dividend will be maintained on it. Two or at all effective in checking what was earlier virtual speculative demoralization.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit was one of the grades of securities. The dealings were in large volume and well distributed, and throughout the day there was considerable from the best very large to the most buoyant during the afternoon. It tumbled to 48 and a fraction and then railied to 53, later declining from the best very large. from this best price of the day, but still showing a good net gain. There was no news that would account for either of these two movements. The bears have been promising that the stock would de-cline to 50 for several months, and when they had once gotten the downward movement started it was easy to engineer it to that figure. A guiding hand was al to that figure. A guiding hand was all that was necessary. As a matter of fact Brooklyn is a better stock intrinsically than it was a year ago when it was selling eighty points above its present level. Its earnings are larger and its dividend pros-pects brighter. The business of the com-pany is increasing every year. The theory of many during the past few days has been that certain of the important inter-ests have watched the decline in the stock with much complaisance, if even they have not helped it along. The character of the buying yesterday at the low prices, to-gether with other indications, lends color to this supposition. The Metropolitan prople, for instance, were mentioned persistently as buying yesterday. There were rumors that they were intending to ac quire the property as they did the Third Avenue at the bottom prices.

> The gross earnings of the Wabash for the third week of June show an increase of $8,554. The May earnings of the Omaha show an increase of $33,193.

> Southern Railway preferred was sold rather heavily with the remainder of the market and on account of special troubles of its own yesterday. Talk of the poor cotton crop was still heard. The accident on the line in Georgia also had a de-pressing effect on the stock, though why it should nobody can say. The low price reached was below 50, but there was a rally before the close.

> Sugar sold off to 110 1-2 and then re-covered sharply. The close at near the top showed a good net gain for the day. The persistent strength of the stock in such a market as this has been is not to be wondered at though many bears have professed to believe that it would sell at 80 in the near future. The company is not earning more than sufficient to pay the full 12 per cent dividend on the common stock if it desired. The full dividends of 7 and 12 per cent on the preferred and common stock would require about $25,000 a day. It is estimated by a good authority that
